To All Kansans:

As Kansans, we are honor bound to uphold our heroes' legacy. That is why I have made it my number one priority to educate people on the importance of voting. There is no better way to dignify the price veterans have paid than by voting in our great democracy.

Most of us have loved ones, relatives, friends or neighbors who have served in the military. Your vote will acknowledge their service to our nation. So be sure to register, if you haven’t already, and vote on November 7th!

Let’s show everyone that Kansans care!

Sincerely,

Ron Thornburgh
Secretary of State

Honor a Vet With Your Vote

In an effort to encourage voter participation and at the same time recognize veterans of military service, Secretary of State Ron Thornburgh is once again sponsoring the Honor a Vet With Your Vote program in cooperation with The American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary and Sons of the American Legion.

At this year’s November 7 general election each voter will receive a Honor a Vet With Your Vote lapel sticker with a blank space where the name of a veteran may be written. Also, various military and veterans organizations members are being asked to select an 18-year-old first-time voter to take to the polls and “show them the ropes.”

“As Kansans, we are honor bound to uphold our heroes’ legacy. That is why I have made it my number one priority to educate people on the importance of voting. There is no better way to dignify the price veterans have paid than by voting in our great democracy,” says Thornburgh. “Most of us have loved ones, relatives, friends or neighbors who have served in the military. Your vote will acknowledge their service to our nation. So be sure to register, if you haven’t already, and vote on November 7th!

“The Honor a Vet With Your Vote program personalizes the significance of voting. I hope it will have a positive impact on voter turnout. I believe that some of the potential voters who feel alienated from government will make the effort to vote because this program makes the act of voting a personal tribute.”
