Notice of Intercity Statewide Summit

Each year, the state of Kansas makes federal funding available to intercity bus carriers through Section 5311(f) of the Transportation Assistance Program. In August 2005, Congress passed the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient, Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users (SAFETEA-LU), reauthorizing funding for transportation services. As part of this reauthorization, agencies receiving funds for public and specialized transportation services must meet certain planning requirements.

Pursuant to SAFETEA-LU, the Kansas Department of Transportation is required to consult with intercity bus providers to determine if the intercity bus service needs in Kansas are being adequately met.

The Kansas Department of Transportation will host an intercity statewide summit from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, November 19, in the auditorium, Eisenhower State Office Building, 700 S.W. Harrison, Topeka. The statewide transportation summit will discuss the need for intercity bus service in the state of Kansas.

In order to improve services, KDOT needs to ensure that it targets transportation resources to the right services and delivers them as efficiently as possible. This process will follow these elements:

- (1) Identify and give notice to intercity bus providers in the state of Kansas.
 - a. This notice will be in the Kansas Register, the Globe, Topeka Capital Journal, Kansas City Star and Wichita Eagle newspapers.
 - b. Notice will be sent to Greyhound Bus Lines and their affiliates; Jefferson Lines; Autobuses Los Paisanos and El Conejo Bus Lines.
 - c. Notice will be sent to the American Bus Association and the United Motorcoach Association.
 - d. KDOT will review Russell's Official National Motor Coach Guide; Kansas Corporation Commission agency listings; and other Bus Industry Directories or Web sites to determine any additional notices that need to be sent.
 - e. Notice will be sent to all public transit providers in the state of Kansas.
- (2) Activities the state will perform as part of consultation with identified providers and the intercity bus industry.
 - a. KDOT will conduct a meeting November 19 in Topeka. Parties may attend via telephone conference. The purpose of this meeting will be to take comments and position papers from all parties on what should be done in Kansas with intercity bus service.
- (3) An opportunity for intercity bus providers to submit proposals for funding as part of the state's distribution of its annual apportionment.
 - a. To facilitate this process, KDOT will submit its comments, proposals, issues and information October 11 with copies to all interested parties. On October 25, all interested parties will submit their comments, proposals, issues and information to KDOT and all interested parties. Based on those comments KDOT will develop an agenda for the meeting.
- (4) A direct correlation between the results of the consultation process and a determination that the state's intercity service needs are adequately being met.
 - a. After the meeting, KDOT will summarize the meeting results and determine what action, based on input from all parties, the state of Kansas should be taking on intercity bus service.

Persons should RSVP to this meeting invitation not later than November 2 by calling (785) 296-5284 or e-mailing stacey@ksdot.org. Persons interested in utilizing the teleconference will be provided a number when they RSVP.

State of Kansas
Board of Education

Notice of Hearing on Proposed Administrative Regulations

The State Board of Education will conduct a public hearing at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 11, in the board room of the State Education Building, 120 S.E. 10th Ave., Topeka, to consider proposed amendments to, or revocations of, special education regulations numbered K.A.R. 91-40-1 through 91-40-53. The existing regulations proposed for amendment are: 91-40-1, 91-40-2, 91-40-3, 91-40-5, 91-40-7, 91-40-8, 91-40-9, 91-40-10, 91-40-11, 91-40-12, 91-40-16, 91-40-17, 91-40-21, 91-40-22, 91-40-26, 91-40-27, 91-40-28, 91-40-29, 91-40-30, 91-40-31, 91-40-33, 91-40-34, 91-40-35, 91-40-38, 91-40-41, 91-40-42, 91-40-43, 91-40-44, 91-40-45, 91-40-46, 91-40-48, 91-40-50 and 91-40-51. (The following existing regulations are not being amended: 91-40-4, 91-40-18, 91-40-19, 91-40-24, 91-40-25, 91-40-36, 91-40-47, 91-40-52 and 91-40-53.)

Two existing regulations are proposed for revocation: K.A.R. 91-40-37 and 91-40-39, and one new regulation, 91-40-42a, is proposed. Finally, regulation numbers 91-40-6, 91-40-13, 91-40-14, 91-40-15, 91-40-20, 91-40-23, 91-40-32, 91-40-40 and 91-40-49 continue to be reserved for future use.

These proposed regulations are required by the revised federal regulations implementing the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). They also address state special education laws that exceed federal mandates, such as services for gifted children and children enrolled in private schools.

These regulations do not impose any requirement that is not mandated by state or federal laws or regulations. The amendments conform to the new federal regulations. The following is a summary of the substance of each regulation and its anticipated economic impact.

K.A.R. 91-40-1. This regulation provides definitions of terms used in the regulations. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-2. This regulation implements the requirement that all children with disabilities aged 3 through 21 have available to them a Free Appropriate Public Education (FAPE). Language is added to clarify that the responsibility to provide FAPE does not extend to a child whose parents have elected to have the child continue to receive early intervention services under the infant and toddler section of the law. Also, provisions are added to clarify that a child may be eligible for special education and related services even though the child has not failed, or been retained in, a course or grade.

This regulation imposes no new obligation on school districts. Thus, this regulation will not impose any additional economic burden on school districts. However, the statutory obligation to provide FAPE to exceptional children has a very substantial economic impact. In the 2006-2007 school year, the costs of providing special education were $667 million, with the state paying approximately $334 million in categorical aid. Federal aid was about $138 million, including Medicaid reimbursements. For the 2007-2008 school year, the State Board estimates the total costs of providing special education will be $700 million. State aid will be $372 million and federal aid is expected to be approximately $122 million, including Medicaid reimbursements.

K.A.R. 91-40-3. This regulation requires that children with disabilities have available to them the same variety of educational programs and services that are available to non-disabled children. Consistent with federal changes, it is amended to state that supplemental aids and services must be provided, if they are necessary for a child to receive an appropriate education. It also clarifies that schools have limited responsibilities for surgically implanted medical devices. These changes will have no economic impact upon the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals. No economic impact is anticipated for school districts since these services are already being provided, when necessary.

K.A.R. 91-40-4. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-5. This regulation concerns special education provided to children with disabilities detained or incarcerated in a detention facility. It is amended to clarify that it applies to both state facilities and to other facilities where a child is placed for detention. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses, individuals, or school districts.

K.A.R. 91-40-6. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-7. This regulation continues the requirement that each school board adopt and implement policies and procedures to identify, locate and evaluate children with exceptionalities residing in the school district. This is known as "child find." The regulation continues, but updates, the requirement that school districts generally not evaluate a child for special education until the school district has tried general education interventions to help the child. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Also, since this regulation does not impose any new requirement upon school districts, no additional economic impact is anticipated for school districts.

K.A.R. 91-40-8. This regulation continues the requirement that an appropriate evaluation be conducted of any child being considered for special education to determine if the child is an exceptional child and what the educational needs of the child are. However, provisions regarding additional requirements for determining if a child has a learning disability are removed from this regulation and are provided for in regulation K.A.R. 91-40-11. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Also, since this regulation does not impose any new requirement upon school districts, no additional economic impact is anticipated for school districts.

K.A.R. 91-40-9. This regulation concerns the methods and procedures used to evaluate or re-evaluate an exceptional child. Only minor changes to conform to federal changes are made. These revisions are intended to clarify the requirements for evaluations. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-10. This regulation concerns eligibility determinations and requires that a written evaluation report be completed to document whether a child is an exceptional child. It is being amended to specify what information must be included in the evaluation report if a child is determined to have a learning disability. It also is amended to conform to the federal designation of developmental delay for children ages three through nine. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Because these reports are currently required, school districts will not incur additional costs.

K.A.R. 91-40-11. This regulation is amended to govern evaluations for specific learning disabilities and the conditions that must be met to determine a child has a learning disability. It includes only those requirements prescribed in the federal regulations. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Also, no additional economic impact is anticipated for school districts.

K.A.R. 91-40-12. This regulation concerns the right of parents to obtain an independent education evaluation (IEE). It clarifies that parents of an exceptional child are eligible to obtain only one IEE at public expense in response to an agency evaluation. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Since this regulation imposes restriction on IEE's, school districts may avoid expenditures of $1,000 to $3,000, with total savings of up to $30,000 statewide, per year.

K.A.R. 91-40-13 to 91-40-15. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-16. This regulation concerns the development, review, and revision of an individualized education program (IEP) for each exceptional child. It is being amended by deleting provisions that are now included in state law. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-17. This regulation concerns IEP meetings. It is amended to conform to notice requirements for IEP meetings now provided for in the federal regulations, especially those dealing with IEP meetings that address transition services. These changes will have no economic impact on the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-18. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-19. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-20. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-21. This regulation concerns educational placement and continues the existing requirement that each child with a disability be educated in the least restrictive environment (LRE). Provisions are added to address appropriate placement for children who are gifted. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals based upon this amendment.

K.A.R. 91-40-22. This regulation concerns the placement of a child with a disability in a private school or facility by the child's school district. The regulation is amended to clarify that, when this occurs, the child remains the responsibility of the local school district and is to be afforded all the rights granted by law. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-23. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-24. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-25. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-26. This regulation concerns notices that must be sent to parents of exceptional children. It is being amended to require that an explanation of proposed agency action be included in such notices and to specify when the list of procedural safeguards must be included with such notices. This change will not have an economic impact upon the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental agencies, private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-27. This regulation concerns written parental consent for special education action. Provisions are added to address those situations where consent is not given. If a parent refuses to consent to the initial provision of special education services, the school district cannot invoke procedures to override the parent's decision. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. A school district will incur expenses only if parental consent for an evaluation is denied. Then a due process hearing may be appropriate. These hearings cost between $1,000 and $10,000. However, in each of the past five school years, the number of due process hearings has not exceeded 10, statewide.

K.A.R. 91-40-28. This regulation offers parents and school districts the option of requesting mediation or initiating a due process hearing if a disagreement arises. Provisions are added to mandate a resolution meeting prior to convening a due process hearing and to establish timelines for such meetings. It is hoped that the use of mediation and these new resolution meetings will eliminate the use of more costly due process hearings. This would result in reduced costs for school districts and for parents. Due process hearings cost between $1,000 and $10,000.

K.A.R. 91-40-29. This regulation establishes the qualifications for special education mediators and due process hearing officers. Changes are being made to reflect that training is offered on a varying basis. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses. Individuals who participate in the training are charged a registration fee of $50 for materials and 1/2 day of instruction. Attorneys can receive CLE credit for these programs.

K.A.R. 91-40-30. This regulation concerns expedited due process hearings in student suspension matters. The timeline for a final decision is changed from 45 calendar days to 30 school days to conform to the federal change. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-31. This regulation concerns a child's educational placement during the pendency of a due process hearing or judicial proceedings. Provisions are added to address children transferring from the infant and toddler program to the program for children age 3 to 21. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-32. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-33. This regulation provides definitions of terms used in the five subsequent regulations which concern discipline of children with disabilities. The changes are made to conform to new federal provisions. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-34. This regulation authorizes school personnel to impose a short-term suspension on a child with a disability for violation of a school rule, and for school personnel to order a change in placement as authorized by law. Discipline of gifted children is also addressed.

A change is made to reference a new state statute. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-35. This regulation specifies the special education and related services that are required to be provided to a child with a disability who has been suspended from school or who has been placed in an interim alternative educational setting. Language is modified to conform to federal provisions requiring a child to be provided services to progress in the general education curriculum and progress toward meeting his IEP goals. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-37. This regulation is being revoked because its provisions are now contained in a state statute. No economic impact will result for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals due to revocation of this regulation.

K.A.R. 91-40-38. This regulation supplements the statutory requirements concerning manifestation determination reviews when a change in placement for disciplinary reasons is proposed. Provisions for a resolution meeting are added if due process is sought to appeal a manifestation determination. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-39. This regulation is being revoked because its provisions are now contained in a state statute. No economic impact will result for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals due to revocation of this regulation.

K.A.R. 91-40-40. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-41. This regulation specifies the findings that must be made before a school district can be held liable to reimburse parents for the costs of enrolling their child in a private school. It also specifies the grounds upon which tuition reimbursement can be denied or reduced. It is being reworded to conform to new federal language. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. This regulation limits the exposure of school districts to claims for private school tuition reimbursement by parents of children with disabilities. So, these provisions help to eliminate or reduce litigation costs. However, in Kansas, we have had fewer than five of these cases over the past 10 years.

K.A.R. 91-40-42. This regulation requires public school districts to consult with representatives of parentally-placed private school students on: 1) how to conduct child find activities; 2) how to conduct a count of private school children with disabilities; and 3) how to determine which private school children will receive services. Details regarding the consultation process are deleted from this regulation and are added to the following new regulation. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. The economic impact for school districts will be negligible since districts, for many years, have consulted with private school representatives.

K.A.R. 91-40-42a. This new regulation sets forth the requirements for consultation between public school officials and representatives of private schools and parents of children enrolled in private schools. All of the requirements in this state regulation are imposed by federal regulations. In addition to specifying matters on which consultation must occur, the regulation allows private school representatives to file a written complaint with the state department of education alleging that insufficient consultation occurred. After giving the school district a chance to respond, the department must issue a decision regarding the complaint. We believe these required federal provisions will have little, if any, economic impact in Kansas. Provisions similar to this exist in regard to other federally-assisted education programs, but an appeal has not been filed in over 15 years. Experience indicates that consultation between public and private school officials has been professional and sufficient.

K.A.R. 91-40-43. This regulation is amended to require, in accordance with a new federal requirement, that school districts provide services to private school children who attend private schools located in the district, regardless of the students' residences. But, this mandate extends only to federal special education money provided for private school children. The regulation also specifies the services that must be provided to private school children. It addresses the different requirements under state and federal law. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. The new requirement to provide services for private school children who are nonresidents of the school district will affect only those districts in which one or more private schools are located. In addition, the requirement to serve nonresidents is limited to federal funds allotted for that purpose. Thus, there should be little economic impact on school districts based upon this regulation.

K.A.R. 91-40-44. This regulation prescribes the formulas that local school districts must use to allocate federal funds for expenditure in providing special education and related services to private school children with disabilities. The formulas are based on federal requirements. It is amended to add record keeping requirements for the number of children evaluated, determined to have a disability, and provided services. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. The added data collection will affect only those school districts with private schools and should result in a minimal fiscal impact of $40,000 statewide.

K.A.R. 91-40-45. This regulation concerns services plans and IEP's for children with disabilities who are enrolled in private schools. It addresses the different requirements under state and federal law. Only editorial changes are being made. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-46. This regulation clarifies the rights of parents of private school exceptional children regarding mediation or due process hearings. It addresses differences between the state and federal laws. It is being amended to specify where complaints are to be filed. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Also, since this regulation does not impose any new requirement upon school districts, no additional economic impact is anticipated for them.

K.A.R. 91-40-47. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-48. This regulation specifies allowable uses of public funds and equipment in providing special education and related services to exceptional children enrolled in private schools. New language taken from the federal regulation indicates that all services must be provided in a secular and nonideological manner. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals.

K.A.R. 91-40-49. Reserved.

K.A.R. 91-40-50. This regulation concerns parents' access to student records and confidentiality of such records. Several federal regulations on these subjects are being incorporated by reference. Most of these requirements are currently imposed upon school districts in regard to all students pursuant to another federal law, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), but a few additional requirements apply to the records of children with disabilities. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, other governmental entities, private businesses or individuals. Also, since this regulation imposes no new requirements upon school districts, no economic impact is anticipated for school districts.

K.A.R. 91-40-51. This regulation specifies the procedures for filing a complaint with the state department of education. It continues provisions that have been in effect for several years, but also adds provisions required by the new federal regulations, including a list of information that must be included in each complaint. No economic impact is anticipated for the State Board of Education, school districts, other governmental entities, or for private businesses or individuals based upon the changes.

K.A.R. 91-40-52. [This regulation is not being amended.]

K.A.R. 91-40-53. [This regulation is not being amended.]
